Message from the 2023 AOM Program Chairs

It is with great excitement that the Academy of Management's Divisions and Interest Groups, All-Academy Theme Committee, Affiliates, Teaching & Learning Conference Committee (TLC@AOM), and Caucus Committee are inviting submissions and seeking reviewers to evaluate conference submissions for the 83rd Annual Meeting of the Academy of Management, "Putting the Worker Front and Center"!

The Division and Committee Program and PDW Chairs are enthusiastically anticipating the development of an intellectually vibrant program for 2023! We invite you to submit your proposal to be part of that program. The Submission Center opens in early December 2022, but the Call for Submissions is available online or for download now. The submission deadline is Tuesday, 10 January 2023 at 17:00 ET (UTC-5/GMT-5). We recommend you submit early to give yourself time to identify and resolve any problems before the system closes to new submissions. If you wait until the last minute, you are more vulnerable to errors. Any submission that is not finalized or does not follow all the guidelines will automatically NOT be reviewed.

Conference registration opens in March 2023. Register early to attend and take advantage of reduced conference rates as you won't want to miss the All-Academy Theme sessions on "Putting the Worker Front and Center", the Teaching and Learning Conference, theory- and method-oriented PDWs, paper presentations, and innovative symposia. The complete conference program will be available online in late May / early June for you to browse sessions, events, and activities as well as create a custom program.

Join us as a participant, presenter, discussant, and/or attendee as we explore new possibilities and ground-breaking strategies in our rapidly evolving environment. AOM 2023 promises a program with greater opportunities and technological advancements, all based on your feedback and suggestions. We are excitedly looking forward to once again meeting face-to-face, in-person in Boston with our meeting technology providing members even greater flexibility to connect in new ways.

Theme: “Putting the Worker Front and Center”

Vice President and Program Chair: Peter Bamberger, Tel Aviv University

The post-pandemic world is witnessing a dramatic shift in workplace power dynamics. Declining globalization (e.g., US-China trade restrictions, Brexit) and a shift towards “re-shoring”, together with the retirement of the baby boom generation, ever-widening income inequalities, intensive workplace cyber-monitoring, and most recently, the Great Resignation have created a perfect storm of increasingly severe talent shortages and intensified labor activism (e.g., the “anti-work” movement). Media reports highlight pent-up frustration among workers over “toxic” work environments and dangerous working conditions, low wages, and concern over the sustainability of all things other than employees. This historic shift, and the supply chain issues associated with it, underscore the relevance, importance and potential impact of management research and education. But this shift also highlights the current limitations of our literature to provide meaningful insights and responses to the current workplace challenges faced by managers, policy-makers and labor alike.

An examination of articles appearing in our field’s top journals gives the impression that management scholarship largely focuses on executives, managers, and professionals, and the issues important to them such as leadership, team effectiveness, governance, innovation, network facilitation, and organizational identity, resilience and transformation. All too rare is the occasional article examining collective voice, employee discipline and dispute resolution, the social implications of employment-at-will and incentive pay, and the daily challenges of many “essential workers” to feed their families. Moreover, despite the fact that the majority of the world’s labor force is still comprised of peasants, subsistence farmers and migrant workers, to date, management scholarship has offered little insight into the nature of marginalized work, or how organizations and institutions might better interface with this massive workforce.

Put simply, global shifts in the geo-political, environmental, demographic, and technological landscape are introducing unprecedented levels of uncertainty into labor markets and employment relations. With the world waiting for answers, the onus is on management scholars to offer new theoretical approaches and evidence-based insights that might allow managers, policy makers and labor leaders to more effectively and collaboratively meet the challenges presented. By “putting the worker front and center”, the 2023 theme calls for our community to rebalance our attention, and pivot towards those at the very core of productive enterprise, namely the workers.

Such a rebalancing calls for us as a community of scholars to offer a multifaceted array of impactful contributions by addressing such questions as: What operational and employment strategies are required for enterprises to more effectively and sustainably leverage their people potential? How should strategic planning processes be adjusted to ensure the due consideration of human resource sustainability? How are geo-political and institutional shifts transforming the experience of work, and what are the micro-processes driving this transformation? What are the individual, organizational and societal implications of employee “side hustles” and what can organizations do to leverage the growing employee interest in engaging in such activity? What can governments and organizations do to facilitate the emergence and success of entrepreneurship among marginalized workers? How is the changing nature of work and “anti-workism” transforming collective voice and the institutions through which it is expressed around the world, and indeed, what underlies the emergence of new forms of worker organization within and across workplaces? How is the AI revolution impacting primary and secondary labor markets and shifting the nature of work and employment for marginalized workers? How might the current shift in workplace power dynamics transform the nature of organizational governance and what impact (if any) is it likely to have on executive pay and pay equity more generally? What new methodological approaches are needed to understand and address the challenges faced by the world’s four billion peasants? How might we more effectively expose our students to the experience of marginalized workers and the factors underlying anti-workism?

Management research has paid a lot of attention to workers as “human capital”, or in other words, the object of managers’ efforts. We have paid far less attention to workers as subjects. The 2023 Annual Meeting is our opportunity to become scholars OF management, not just scholars FOR management, and as such, to rebalance – in both our research and teaching -- the perspectives of managers and of the workers they manage.

Call for Reviewers

The Academy of Management and its Divisions and Interest Groups are recruiting reviewers for the 83rd Annual Meeting of the Academy of Management. If you plan to submit your work for review, the Academy strongly urges you to sign up as a volunteer reviewer for the divisions and interest groups that you submit to and/or whose domains you are knowledgeable in.

Benefits of Reviewing for the Annual Meeting

- Reviewers gain visibility for themselves and their institutions.
- Reviewing gives you an opportunity to be pro-active in the Academy's program planning process.
- Reviewing is a way to give back to your professional community.
- Reviewing is a way to learn about what constitutes excellent and interesting work.

To sign up as a reviewer, please start by visiting the information for reviewers. During the signup process you will be asked to select up to 2 divisions or interest groups that you feel qualified to review for. Please note that you may be asked to review up to 3 submissions for each division or interest group you select. Therefore, the maximum number of review assignments that you could potentially receive is 6. You will also be asked to select keywords/subject areas for each division or interest group you select. Keywords will be used to assign papers and symposia that most closely match your interests and expertise.

As a reviewer, you will be required to complete your review assignments between 19 January 2023 and 16 February 2023, so please plan your time accordingly. The Academy and its Divisions, Interest Groups, and Committees thank you in advance for the service you are willing to offer as a reviewer.

AOM Code of Ethics and AOM Annual Meeting Policies

AOM Code of Ethics

Members should notify appropriate division chairs or committees regarding the practices or actions of members they believe may violate Academy policies, rules, or general standards of ethical conduct. Standards of conduct that are particularly relevant to participation in the annual conference are summarized below. More information about the AOM's professional norms on conference presentations can also be found on the Ethics Video Series on YouTube channel.

1. Participation. To encourage meaningful exchange, Academy members should foster a climate of free interchange and constructive criticism within the Academy and be willing to share research findings and insights fully with other members.
2. Original Work and New Work. At the time of submission, submitted papers must not have been previously presented at an AOM Annual Meeting. Submitted papers must not have been published or accepted for publication by AOM or non-AOM publications. If a paper is under review, it must NOT appear in print or online at AOM or non-AOM publications before the AOM Annual Meeting.
3. Attendance and Commitments. ALL program participants must be AOM members AND registered (separate costs) for the conference to attend. The Academy is a voluntary association whose existence and operations are dependent on cooperation, involvement, and leadership from its members. Members should honor all professional commitments, including presentation of accepted papers and participation in scheduled roles, such as chair, discussant, or panelist. Program participants are highly encouraged to personally present their submission. If absence from a scheduled meeting is unavoidable, members must contact appropriate individuals and pursue suitable alternative arrangements. Leaders have the same responsibilities and should perform their obligations and responsibilities in a timely, diligent, and sensitive manner, without regard to friendships or personal gain.
4. Rigorous Scholarship. It is the duty of Academy members conducting research to design, implement, analyze, report, and present their findings rigorously. Research rigor includes careful design, execution, analysis, interpretation of results, and retention of data. Presentation of research should include treatment of the data that is honest and that reveals both strengths and weaknesses of findings.

Authorship and credit should be shared in correct proportion to the various parties' contributions. Whether published or not, ideas or concepts derived from others should be acknowledged, as should advice and assistance received. Authors should also guard against plagiarizing the work of others. Plagiarism is defined as:

The failure to give sufficient attribution to the words, ideas, or data of others that have been incorporated into a work, which an author submits for academic credit or other benefit. Attribution is sufficient if it adequately informs and, therefore, does not materially mislead a reasonable reader as to the source of the words, ideas, or data. Attribution (or the lack thereof) is materially misleading if it could cause a reasonable reader to be mistaken as to the source of the words, ideas, or data in a way that could benefit the author submitting the work. (Worthen, 2004: 444. Italic for emphasis added).

AOM Annual Meeting Policies

Participation and Attendance at PDW and Scholarly Sessions

To attend the Annual Meeting, a program participant must be an AOM member and must be registered for the conference. Program participants are highly encouraged to personally present their submissions.

The Rule of One for PDWs

PDW Proposals can be submitted to only ONE Division, Interest Group, or Affiliate. It is recommended that you contact the preferred sponsoring division, interest group, or committee to discuss your proposal prior to submitting. During the submission process you will have the opportunity to suggest other divisions, interest groups, and committees that would also be interested in the proposal.

The Rule of One for Papers

“A paper can only be submitted to one division or interest group.” This long-standing Academy rule is similar to the requirements of most journals.

The Rule of Three for PDWs

“No one may submit to or be associated with more than three (3) Professional Development Workshop (PDW) submissions to an Academy Meeting. No one may appear on more than three (3) PDW sessions during the Annual Meeting, regardless of the session format.”

PDW Program appearances include all roles that are listed on the PDW program such as chairs, organizers, special guests, speakers, presenters, co-authors, and so on.

The Rule of Three for Papers and Symposia

“No one may submit to or be associated with more than three scholarly submissions (papers and/or symposia) to an Academy Meeting. No one may appear on more than three sessions during the refereed scholarly program.”

Scholarly Program appearances include all roles that are listed on the scholarly program such as chairs, organizers, special guests, discussants, speakers, presenters, co-authors, and so on.

The Rule of 3+3

The Rule of Three + Three (no more than three scholarly submissions + three workshop submissions) serves to ensure broad participation of members. It reduces the likelihood of the program being dominated by a small handful of people, and it helps ensure that no one is committed to appear at more than one place at a time. When people make too many commitments to participate in the conference program, scheduling conflicts often arise. Consequently, participants may find it difficult to honor their commitments, and the program and the experiences of the attendees will suffer. Organizers, other participants, and especially the attendees are all frustrated by such behavior. The Rule of Three + Three helps reduce these problems. Participants are better able to fully honor their commitments, and attendees can attend sessions knowing that the featured speakers will actually be there throughout.

How is the Rule of Three + Three enforced?

The PDW and scholarly program submission system will automatically block submissions that violate the rule. The system will inform the submitter of the rule violation and indicate which participant has already been associated with three other submissions. The submitter will have to revise the proposal by removing the violation. The proposal can be revised and resubmitted by the deadline without penalty. A person who agrees to be listed on more than three PDW proposals or three scholarly submissions puts all of those submissions at risk of being dropped from the program. Therefore, it is in the interest of submitters to ensure that everyone understands and follows the rule. Clearly, the implications of including a violator of the Rule of Three + Three on a submission are far-reaching.

NOTE: It is the responsibility of each participant to understand and follow the Rule of Three + Three. If you have committed to participate in three workshops and three scholarly submissions, you should decline further requests.

The following are exempt from the Rule of Three + Three:

- Academy, Division, Interest Group, and Affiliate Officer Roles. (Note: AOM Program Chairs may not be listed as an author for proposals submitted to the division in which they serve as Chair.)
- Academy and Division General Sessions (Meetings, Social Events, Plenary Sessions)
- AOM publication editors (current and incoming editors-in-chief) when participating in sessions devoted exclusively to publishing and other AOM journal activities.
- Caucus organizers (maximum of two organizers per caucus are exempt).
- Presenters in the Teaching and Learning Conference.
- Submissions to the Teaching and Learning Conference are exempt from the Rule of Three + Three.

Clarifications for the Rule of Three:

- If a person appears in more than one role in a single session (e.g., chair and speaker), it counts as one for purposes of the Rule of Three + Three.

Professional Development Workshop (PDW) Submission Information

What is a PDW?

Professional Development Workshops (PDWs) are a platform for colleagues to share knowledge and expertise and foster the professional development of workshop participants. It is an opportunity to develop innovative and creative workshops that will benefit Academy members. The PDW program is coordinated by the Academy's many divisions, interest groups, and affiliates. In contrast to the refereed scholarly program that has a double-blind review process and standardized time blocks and formats, the PDWs include a wide variety of session formats, are a minimum of 1-hour in duration, and are reviewed by the corresponding PDW Chairs. These workshops include Doctoral Consortia and Junior Faculty Consortia. PDWs will be held in-person on Friday, 4 August 2023 and Saturday, 5 August 2023. Doctoral Consortia and Junior Faculty Consortia will be held in-person from Friday, 4 August 2023, through Sunday, 6 August 2023.

NOTE: Each PDW Chair can adjust session duration of any submitted Professional Development Workshop if they feel it would better serve the group's member experience.

Important Submission Notes:

Submitters do NOT need to be AOM members to submit a proposal to the Annual Meeting. However, if a proposal is accepted, participants must register to attend the Annual Meeting. All participants attending the Annual Meeting must be AOM Members and registered for the Annual Meeting.

It is recommended that you contact the preferred sponsoring division, interest group, or affiliate to discuss your proposal prior to submitting. Please contact the preferred sponsor by 16 December 2022 so you have enough time to finalize your proposal/submission and submit by Tuesday, 10 January 2023 at 17:00 ET (UTC-5/GMT-5).

- Diversity
- International
- Practice
- Research
- Teaching
- Theme, "Putting the Worker Front and Center"

Paper and Symposium (Scholarly) Submission Information

What is a scholarly submission?

Scholarly submissions include paper, symposium, and caucus submissions. Scholarly submissions will be held in-person on Monday, 7 August 2023 and Tuesday, 8 August 2023.

Paper Submissions

A paper refers to a fully developed manuscript on a scholarly topic. A paper can only be submitted to one division. Papers represent the majority of submissions and comprise the majority of scholarly sessions on the program. Accepted papers are grouped into paper sessions by the Division Program Chairs based upon common themes reflecting the interests and domains of their divisions. In a paper session, each author has a set amount of time to present their work. Group discussion including Q&A follows the presentations of all the papers.

Paper Review Process

The blind review process exists to help protect the integrity of the submission and review process. Papers are double-blind reviewed, and are evaluated on clarity, analysis, methodological rigor, and overall quality. Double-blind review means that author and submitter information is NOT known to the reviewers, and reviewer information is NOT known to the authors or submitter.

Symposium Submissions

Symposium sessions are the second type of refereed session in which several speakers discuss a common topic or theme in a manner that brings new insights to the subject. Symposia can be submitted to up to three divisions. There are two types of symposia: Panel Symposia engage a group of panelists in a formal interactive discussion while Presenter Symposia involve a series of authored papers on a preset theme.

1. Panel Symposia: The purpose of a Panel Symposium is to engage a group of panelists in an interactive discussion. There are no titles associated with the panelists' presentations. Proposals for panel discussions should include clear descriptions of the topics to be discussed and the procedures that will be used to manage the discussion among panelists and with the audience.
2. Presenter Symposia: Presenter Symposia involve a series of authored presentations on a preset theme. Symposia are judged on overall quality, interest to Academy members, relevance to the divisions or interest groups to which they are submitted, and innovation and contribution. Symposia can be singly sponsored by a division / interest group, or jointly sponsored by up to 3 divisions / interest groups. In a Presenter Symposium, titles are associated with each presentation. Presenter Symposia can involve co-authored presentations and co-authors will be listed on the program.

Symposium Review Process

Symposia are single-blind reviewed, and are judged on overall quality, interest to Academy members, relevance to the division or interest group to which they are submitted, and innovation and contribution. Single-blind review means that author and submitter information IS known to the reviewers, but reviewer information is NOT known to the authors or submitter.

Important Submission Notes

Submitters do NOT need to be AOM members to submit a proposal to the Annual Meeting. However, if a proposal is accepted, participants must register to attend the Annual Meeting. All participants attending the Annual Meeting must be AOM Members and registered for the Annual Meeting.

It is recommended that you contact the preferred sponsoring division or interest group to discuss your proposal prior to submitting. Please contact the preferred sponsor by 16 December 2022 so you have enough time to finalize your proposal/submission and submit by Tuesday, 10 January 2023 at 17:00 ET (UTC-5/GMT-5).

Session Orientations and Awards

Orientations: As a submitter, you may indicate the general orientation of your proposal. The official AOM Program includes these orientations to help attendees identify sessions of interest. The types of orientations are:

- Diversity
- International
- Practice
- Research
- Teaching
- Theme, "Putting the Worker Front and Center"

Annual Meeting Program Awards:

- William H. Newman Award for single-authored paper based on a dissertation completed in the past three years; and
- Carolyn B. Dexter Award for Best International Paper.

Please visit the Annual Meeting website for more information about the Newman and Dexter Awards.

- B. A Presenter Symposium \(SAMPLE\) involves a series of authored presentations on a preset theme.

Symposium Sponsors

A symposium that is designed for a specific audience can be submitted to as many as THREE (3) divisions or interest groups that will each review the symposium independently. A symposium that relates to a specific division or interest group should be submitted to that division or interest group. When you submit a symposium, the electronic system will ask you to select potential division sponsors. A symposium that would appeal broadly to AOM members in ALL divisions AND addresses the meeting theme, "Putting the Worker Front and Center" should be submitted to the All-Academy Theme (AAT) Committee.

Symposium Review Process

Symposia are single-blind reviewed. The reviewers see the names of the presenters, participants, and organizers. Proposals for symposia are judged based on overall quality, interest to Academy members, relevance to the sponsor being sought (division, interest group, All-Academy Theme), innovation, and contribution. For more details about the criteria used by specific sponsors, consult the division or interest group Call for Submissions.

All-Academy Theme (AAT) Submission Information

All-Academy Theme Chair: Peter Bamberger, Tel Aviv University; peterb@tauex.tau.ac.il

The All-Academy Theme (AAT) Committee is eager to receive theme-related symposium and PDW submissions that represent the full diversity of our membership's backgrounds, experiences, and ideas. The All-Academy program will be developed from submissions to the AAT Committee as well as submissions nominated by Division and Interest Group Program Chairs. Therefore, members are invited to submit their theme-related symposia and PDWs in one of the following two ways (note: standalone papers cannot be submitted to, or nominated for, the AAT program):

- You may submit a symposium or PDW directly to the AAT program. These submissions will be reviewed and considered for inclusion on the All-Academy program by the AAT Committee. This route is recommended if you can convincingly and explicitly link the substance of your proposed symposium or PDW to the theme and explain its likely appeal across various divisions and interest groups. Please note, however, that if you decide to submit a proposal directly to the AAT program and it is not accepted, the submission will not be reviewed by a division or interest group.
- You may submit a symposium directly to the division or interest group whose domain statement best captures the substance of your submission. This route is recommended if you have doubt as to whether the substance of your proposed symposium relates to the theme and/or will have appeal across various divisions and interest groups. Please note that if you decide to submit a proposal directly to a division or interest group, it is possible that the submission will be accepted for presentation during the scholarly program or be nominated, accepted, and included on the All-Academy Theme (AAT) program.

Regardless of whether you submit directly to the AAT program or to a specific division or interest group, you will need to submit a full proposal for your symposium or PDW via the AOM Submission Center. Caucus Proposals Submission Instructions

The Caucus Committee invites proposals for caucus sessions to be held at the 83rd Annual Meeting of the Academy of Management, 4 August – 8 August 2023. Caucus sessions will be held in-person on Sunday, 6 August 2023. Caucus Submission Guidelines for Uploaded Manuscript

What is a Caucus?

The premise of a caucus is primarily to provide an opportunity for scholars to innovate, share, and discuss emergent ideas that are still in the incubatory stage. Caucuses are designed to provide a convenient, informal way for AOM members with shared interests to find one another and to develop a sense of community within the larger AOM structure as well as to explore potential collaborations in a forum open to all interested AOM members. Caucus submissions are reviewed and evaluated by the Caucus Committee.

I. Questions to guide you as you prepare your caucus proposal:

- Does the proposal encourage development of new ideas or address emerging topics?
- Does the proposal appeal to and interest a broad audience of AOM members?
- Does the proposal encourage collaboration and the free exchange of ideas?
- Does the proposal address the conference theme?
- Does the proposal clearly express goals and desired outcomes?

II. Formatting your Caucus Proposal: Please follow these guidelines to ensure your Caucus proposal is reviewed.

- a. The entire Caucus submission must be in ONE document using one of the following formats:
 - Adobe Portable Document Format (.pdf)
 - Microsoft Word (.doc, .docx)
 - Rich Text Format (.rtf)
- b. The Caucus submission includes the following:
 1. Title of the caucus (in Title Case).

 3. Abstract or short program description of 50 words.
 4. Short description (up to 500 words) of the topical content and delivery plan, including two bold-font keywords. Figures, graphs, tables, references, etc. should be included as needed.
 5. Names, affiliations, and contact information of 5 (FIVE) AOM members, in addition to the organizer(s), who support the submission. Note that these five names will NOT be listed in the program and will NOT be counted in the Rule of Three + Three. We ask that you include them as a way to verify that the topic is one that is likely to appeal to at least several AOM members.
 6. The 5-digit Academy-assigned electronic submission ID number should appear in the header (upper right) on the first page of the uploaded document.
- c. Make sure that the file or document uploaded is virus-free prior to submitting.
- d. After uploading the document, it will be automatically converted to Adobe PDF format. Please make sure that the content of the submission appears and prints correctly as you intended after it has been converted by clicking on the “view” button.

Note: Caucus proposals that do not follow these guidelines may not be reviewed.

Important Submission Notes:

Submitters do NOT need to be AOM members to submit a proposal to the Annual Meeting. However, if a proposal is accepted, participants must register to attend the Annual Meeting. All participants attending the Annual Meeting must be AOM Members and registered for the Annual Meeting.

You do not need to be a member to submit a proposal for the Academy of Management's Annual Meeting. If you are not an Academy member, you must still create an account with basic contact information which will be linked to your submission(s). If your submission is accepted, and you attend the conference to participate in a session, you will need to join the Academy and register for the conference.

Where can I find more information about the theme for the Academy of Management's Annual Meeting?

A full description of the conference theme can be found on our website, along with the Call for Submissions for the All-Academy Theme program.

Does my submission have to relate to the theme, and if my proposal relates to the theme, do I have to submit to the All-Academy Theme?

Your submission does not have to relate to the theme to be considered for acceptance onto the Program, and you do not have to submit your theme-related proposal to the All-Academy Theme. The Divisions, Interest Groups, and Affiliates may also be seeking proposals on the theme, as they relate to their groups. Please see the Call for Submissions for each Division, Interest Group, and Affiliate for more information.

What are the guidelines for submissions?

The submission guidelines can be found online for professional development workshop proposals, paper submissions, symposium submissions, caucus proposals, and the Teaching and Learning Conference submissions.

Can I submit a paper previously presented at a conference?

At the time of submission, submitted papers must not have been previously presented or scheduled for presentation at the Academy of Management. Submitted papers must not have been published or accepted for publication in any journal. If a paper is under review, it must NOT appear in print before the Academy meeting. If your paper was previously presented at the AOM, you must be able to show significant changes from your original presented proposal.

Does my paper submission need to be the full paper, or can it be an abstract?

A paper submission must be a fully developed manuscript, which includes an abstract, but not only the abstract. We require the full proposal be uploaded with your completed, finalized submission, or your submission may not be sent for review. For more specific details regarding the guidelines for paper submissions, please see the paper submission guidelines.

Can I submit to more than one Division, Interest Group, or Affiliate?

Professional Development Workshop (PDW): You must submit your PDW to one primary sponsoring group, with an option to suggest additional, potential co-sponsoring groups.

Paper: Your paper proposal can only be submitted to one sponsoring group.

Symposium: Yes, you may submit your symposium proposal to up to three sponsoring groups.

Caucus: Your caucus proposal can only be submitted to the Caucus Committee.

All-Academy Theme (AAT): Your AAT proposal can only be submitted to the AAT Committee.

Teaching & Learning Conference (TLC): Your TLC proposal can only be submitted to the TLC Committee.

What types of proposals can I submit to the All-Academy Theme?

Professional Development Workshop (PDW) proposals and symposium proposals can be submitted to the All-Academy Theme program. Paper and caucus proposals cannot.

Will I be able to edit my submission?

You will be able to edit your submission and upload revisions, UNTIL you finalize your submission. Once the submission is finalized, you will not be able to edit any part of the submission, nor upload a revised proposal, nor add participants. Please ensure you have completed every item on the finalization checklist, before finalizing your submission.

How do I update my submission profile?

To review or edit your profile, please sign in to your AOM account on the aom.org website click on your name at the center top after signing in. Click on the gray pencil to edit your Primary Information or Address, or use the blue “Update My Annual Meeting Affiliation” button to change your affiliation on the Program. Don’t forget to save changes when you are finished.

I couldn’t add complete contact information for my co-author or other participants.

If the co-author or participant on your submission does not already have an Academy account, you will be able to add them to your submission by providing their full name and email address . A participant who has an account created on their behalf will receive an email to the email address provided alerting them that an account was created but needs to be activated and details updated.

I created an account for a coauthor/participant associated with my submission, but my submission says the information is not confirmed. Can I finalize my submission?

It is OK to continue and finalize your submission even if information details for your colleagues are incomplete or inaccurate. Your colleagues can update their information at any time and those updates will automatically be included in your submission. A participant / author who has an account created on their behalf, will receive an email to the email address provided alerting them that an account was created but needs to be activated and details updated. Only the added participant / author will be able to confirm and activate their account.

If necessary, you may contact the participant separately and ask them to check their inbox and junk mail folders for an email from the Academy of Management with subject: “Participation in a 2023 Academy of Management Submission” with instructions on how to activate their account.

Someone created an account on my behalf. Do I need to do anything else?

If you were added to a submission for the upcoming conference, and an account was created on your behalf, please check your inbox and junk mail folders for an email from the Academy of Management with subject: “Participation in a 2023 Academy of Management Submission” with instructions on how to activate your account. If you cannot locate this email, activate your account here. Enter your email address and follow the prompts to activate your account. If this does not work, please use the AOM Support Center for assistance.

I uploaded a revised file, but I still see the original version.

If you do not see the revised proposal after it has been re-uploaded, it is likely that your browser had the original document cached so you did not immediately see the revised version even though the upload was successful. Please try to clear your browser's cache, or quit all your browser sessions, or try another browser, or even use another computer if necessary and try again to see if the version you see in the Submission Center is correct.

I missed the deadline. Can I get an extension?

The Call for Submissions, including the submission deadline, is posted on the AOM website in November. We encourage all submitters to enter their proposals in the Submission Center as early as possible, to have sufficient time to start a submission, review the submission guidelines, resolve issues, and ask questions. Due to the schedule for program volunteers who devote their time to reviewing and accepting thousands of submissions, we cannot extend the submission deadline.

Do I have to register for the AOM Annual Meeting if my submission is accepted?

If your submission is accepted, and you attend the conference to participate in a session, you will need to join the Academy and register for the conference. If a colleague or co-author attends the conference to present your accepted proposal, then you will not need to register, but your colleague will.

When is the review period?

Reviewers will begin to receive their review assignments on 19 January 2023 and will have until 16 February 2023 to complete reviews.

How many submissions will I be asked to review?

Volunteer reviewers can sign up for no more than two Divisions or Interest Groups and will receive no more than three (3) assignments per division.

What is the deadline to submit my review?

The deadline to submit your review(s) is 16 February 2023.

When will the conference Proceedings be available?

The conference Proceedings will be available in late June.

Will my full paper or symposium submission be included in the Proceedings?

The Proceedings includes the abstracts of all accepted papers and symposia as well as abridged versions of the program's "Best Papers" (top 10%) as designated by the division and interest group Program Chairs. The abridged (6-page) format is used because publication of papers at their full length would preclude subsequent journal publication. The abridged papers are available only to conference registrants of the Academy of Management Annual Meeting.

When will I know if my proposal has been accepted?

Decision notifications are sent at the end of March.
