November 13, 2019

4:00 - 5:30 pm

AMD and A.B. Freeman School of Business offers a unique opportunity for management scholars to learn more about abductive research in an effort to develop their work for possible publication in AMD. During this short workshop participants will meet with AMD Editor Peter Bamberger

In line with the mission of AMD, questions and discussions should be framed around empirical exploration.

Register \(no charge\) to attend

This workshop free of charge and open to all. Please contact the AMD office with questions and inquiries.

Attending this workshop does not guarantee acceptance and publication of your work in AMD. All manuscripts submitted to AMD are double blind peer reviewed. It is our hope that the workshop experience provides attendees with developmental feedback to improve their work.
